Team leader and his responsibilities

Our team through democratic voting elected Gediminas Pakšys as our team leader. He will be responsible for organizing team activities, and communicating with the lecturer.

Team ambition

All team members are aiming for the highest possible mark: 10.

Key team rules

- Meetings may be missed only for a valid reason.
- If you are unable to complete an assigned issue, notify the team promptly.

Work distribution

Work will be distributed through GitHub issues, with members choosing tasks during meetings.

Capacity constraints

No special constraints apply, apart from responsibilities related to university commitments.

Team meeting times

Regular meetings take place every Thursday at 14:00. Additional meetings may be scheduled at any time when necessary.

Progress tracking

Team progress will be evaluated during the meetings. Completed pull requests will show individual work.

Sanctions and punishments

Sanctions and punishments on the offending team member will be decided by the whole team and we will vote for a fitting punishment. If a member refuses to contribute anything, the team will notify the lecturer.

AI

All team members agreed on not using AI for coding.
